RESEARCH PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The Bellert group researches ion/molecule reactions powered by the absorption of a single visible photon. Such systems model photo-catalysis where a transition metal converts the energy of a visible photon into the energy that powers chemical transformations. Photo-catalysis is studied by measuring the decomposition kinetics and dynamics of a photon-driven, metal mediated decomposition reaction of an organic molecule. The role of the transition metal is two-fold: (i) to act as a chromophore absorbing the visible photon and depositing this quantum of energy into the reaction coordinate, and (ii) to act as a catalytic active site by reducing the energy requirements to rearrange and break the covalent bonds between the atoms of an organic molecule. This research is novel, and we have developed custom instrumentation to measure the microcanonical decomposition kinetics and dynamics of metal mediated reactions.

CURRENT FUNDING

ACS PRF $110,000. Funding period 09/01/18 to 08/31/2020
Earth Abundant Transition Metal Oxides and Carbides as Super-Atom Molecular Analogs to Platinum.

PROFESSIONAL PREPARATION

- Wright State University, Dayton, OH
Bachelor of Science, Chemistry, 1986 – 1992
- University of Florida, Gainesville, FL
Doctor of Philosophy, Physical Chemistry, 1992 – 1998
Ph. D. mentor: Professor Phillip Brucat
Dissertation: Solute-Solvent Interactions of Transition Metal Containing Complexes Determined via Gas-Phase Photodissociation Spectroscopy
- University of Utah, Salt Lake City, UT
Post-doctoral fellow, Assistant Research Professor, 1998 - 2003
Mentor: Professor Bill Breckenridge
- Baylor University, Waco, TX
Assistant Professor of Chemistry, 2003 – 2009
Associate Professor of Chemistry, 2009 – 2019

PERSONNEL

Ph. D. Student	Graduation Year	Position
Jason Dee	2010	University of Texas at Austin, laboratory coordinator
Vanessa Castleberry	2010	Baylor University, senior lecturer
Otsmar Villarroel	2012	McLennan Community College, senior lecturer
Ivanna Laboren	2012	McLennan Community College, senior lecturer
Adam Mansell	2016	University of Florida, undergraduate research director
Zachary Theis	2019	Air Force Research Laboratory, Civilian Scientist
Michael Gutierrez	2019	Harding University, Assistant Professor
